REPORT CARD ON NATIVE AMERICAN EDUCATION IN THE MT. PLEASANT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

by Superintendent Robert Janson

One of the highlights of the school year occurred on May 28 when five Native American students were honored at the annual Title IV-A Grad Night held at the Embers Restaurant. The guest of honors included Kevin Chamberlain, Candy Chippewa, Lynette Franco, Shellie Jeffrey, and Becky Rood as well as family members, tribal officers, school officials, and Title IV-A staff. I believe strongly that the diploma earned by each of these students will open the door to a range of future opportunities. More importantly, it is my hope that our graduating seniors will serve as effective role models for younger Native American students in the years ahead.

Late spring was a busy time of the year for a number of other reasons, as well. In early April, a representative from the Michigan Indian Employment Office visited Mt. Pleasant High School and selected 16 Native American students for summer employment. Five of our students Kevin Chamberlain, Candy Chippewa, Lynette Franco, Carrie Franco, and John Trepanier attended Foreign Language Day on April 11 at Central Michigan University. Later in the month, Henry George Jr., Beth Merrill, Sam Steele, and Mary Rood participated in "Gentle Friday" activities on the CMU Campus.

In early May, three of our high school students attended the Native American Resources Conference at Michigan State University. Participating students included John Trepanier, Raymond Fisher, and Jennifer Shanks. Such campus visits are beneficial. I feel, because it may help trigger an interest in pursuing a college degree for some of our students.

Grades appear to be up for a majority of our students and over-all attendance has improved. Five of our students earned a 3.00 grade point average or higher on fifth marking period grades: Fred Cantu(3.666), Candy Chippewa(3.600), Noel Peters(3.400), Shellie Jeffrey (3.283), and Kevin Chamberlain(3.166). Seven other students compiled at least a "C" average. You may be interested in visiting the "re-modeled" Title IV-A office at Mt. Pleasant High School. The appearance of the room has been greatly improved by the addition of 27 student drawings dealing with various aspects of Indian history.

Finally, I would like to take this opportunity to wish each of you a safe and enjoyable summer season. I am confident that the progress we have made in educating our Native American students in the Mt. Pleasant Public School District will continue in September.

PRESIDENT SIGNS SAGINAW CHIPPEWA INDIAN TRIBE OF MICHIGAN DISTRIBUTION OF JUDGMENT FUNDS ACT

A PRESS RELEASE

BY: Arnold J. Sowmick, Sr.

Tribal Chairman

Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan

On June 30, 1986 President Ronald W. Reagan signed the "Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan Distribution of Judgment Funds Act". With his signature, an historical precedent setting piece of legislation which specifically provides for the creation of a perpetual investment fund for the Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan, by utilizing the remaining money's awarded to the Tribe in four separate judgments pursuant to the Indian Claims Commission Act of 1946, 25 USCA Sections 70-70 v. But more generally, we think that this Act is of great interest in Indian Country because it sets a historical precedent in allowing the tribe to preserve its resources by investing judgment funds, instead of distributing the money on a per capita basis.

Indian Claims Commission

One of the long standing and continuing controversies between the United States and Indian Nations is the numerous treaty violations by the Federal Government of those treaties entered into between the National government and various Indian Tribes.

Between 1778, with the Treaty with the Delawares and March 3, 1871 when all such treaty making ended, the United States entered into over 400 treaties with Indian Nations. Unfortunately many of the provisions of the 400 treaties were not lived up to and in many cases these treaties were violated outright by the Federal government.

Prior to 1946, all Indian claims for violations of treaties or other claims against the United States could only be litigated after Congress passed special legislation authorizing such suits. This process was a cumbersome mechanism and did not help alleviate the problem of resolving Indian Claims against the United States.

The idea of addressing Indian claims coincided with the pressure for termination and in 1946 Congress passed the "Indian Claims Commission Act". Whatever the underlying purpose of the Claims Commission might have been, the main theme of the Act was to allow tribes to prosecute specified claims that arose before the passage of the Act. All claims were to be filed by August 13, 1951. Initially, the Commission was to complete its work within five years, but in fact the Commission's life was continually extended until Congress finally dissolved the Commission in September of 1978 and transferred all pending cases to the United States Court of Claims.

Saginaw Chippewa Claims

The Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan is a Federally recognized Indian Tribe. The Tribe reorganized from the Saginaw, Swan Creek and Black River Bands of Chippewa in 1937 under the Indian Reorganization Act of 1934. Between 1795 and 1864, the Saginaw, Swan Creek and Black River Bands of Chippewa entered into at least fourteen Treaties with the United States. Many of these Treaties were not implemented properly, thus the Tribe had many long standing grievances with the United States, when the Claims Commission Act was enacted in 1946.

Beginning in the late 1940's under Chiefs, James Strong, Sr. and Willis Jackson, Sr., the Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan brought a number of suits against the United States before the Indian Claims Commission. Four of the Tribal suits resulted in judgments in behalf of the Tribe. Three of the judgments were adjudicated before the Indian Claims Commission and one was rendered by the United States Court of Claims.

Each judgment, as awarded, has became known by its designated docket number, those judgments awarded to the Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan, were Dockets 57, 59, 13E and 13F. Between August 1, 1973 and January 19, 1979 the Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan were awarded $12,419,361.01 under the four Judgments designated as Dockets 57, 59, 13E and 13F.

In January of 1983, the funds awarded under Docket 57 were distributed on a per capita basis. When Docket 57 was awarded for lands ceded under the Treaty of 1819, the total award to the Tribe was $8,117,608.00, at the time of final distribution the total value of the Judgment was $16,786,642.09. This Docket was paid as follows:

1. $13,168,617.12 was paid in per capita payments of $4,060 to 3,243 descendants who were not members of the Tribe. According to Bureau of Indian Affairs records, of the 3,243 individuals who shared in this Docket's distribution, only 800 to 900 could meet the required qualification of being at least one quarter degree blood quantum, which is a constitutional requirement for Tribal membership.
2. $2,894,420 was paid in per capita shares of $3,248.50 to 891 enrolled Tribal members of the Tribe. The membership base had an effective date of November 12, 1977.

3. The remaining 20% or $723,604.99 was reserved by law from each Tribal member's share for Tribal program purposes. According to a March 1986, Bureau of Indian Affairs Report, this portion now contains $898,816.55 with interest added.

At this time there remains three undistributed dockets which are the main subjects of the bill signed into Law by President Reagan on June 30, 1986.

These Dockets are:

1. Docket 59, awarded by the Indian Claims Commission on June 22, 1978. The award being compensation for 3,298,637 acres of land ceded under the Treaty of November 17, 1807. On September 15, 1978 Congress appropriated $3,479,308 for this award. According to the March, Bureau of Indian Affairs Report, there is $7,417,790.00 in this Docket including interest.
2. Docket 13E, was awarded by the Indian Claims Commission on August 17, 1978, for 517,916.40 acres of land ceded under the Treaty of July 4, 1805. On January 19, 1979, Congress appropriated $563,624.21 which, as of March totals $1,138,894.19 with interest.
3. On January 19, 1979, the United States Court of Claims in Docket 13F awarded the Tribe $258,820.80. This award represented compensation for 228,184 acres of land ceded under the Treaty of September 29, 1817. Congress appropriated the funds for this Docket on March 2, 1979. According to the March, Bureau of Indian Affairs Report, there is $521,412.13 in this Docket with interest.

Tribal Rationale for Seeking Legislation

After the distribution of Docket 57 funds on a per capita basis in 1983, three things became evident:

1. The current regulations and procedures of the Bureau of Indian Affairs inhibited the Tribe's ability to utilize their 20% share of Docket 57, pursuant to a plan developed in April of 1983.
2. Further distribution of the Tribe's remaining dockets on a per capita basis would have a drastic effect on the Tribe's future because it would result in the dissipation of the Tribe's remaining resources.
3. At that time, the Bureau of Indian Affairs historically still favored distribution of Dockets on a per capita basis to members and descendants.

The Tribal view of how the Bureau of Indian Affairs would approach distribution of the remaining dockets, was reinforced when on October 3, 1983, the Bureau of Indian Affairs recommended that Dockets 59, 13E and 13F be distributed using the Docket 57 distribution system. The Tribe objected to this plan on several grounds which were:

1. First and foremost, there was absolutely no consultation with the Tribe in the development of the use and distribution plan recommended on October 3, 1983. Basically it was a take or leave it proposition without even considering the Tribe's status as a sovereign Indian Nation.
2. By the time that the recommendations were handed down, the Tribe was fully aware that over 2,300 of the recipients of per capita shares under Docket 57 did not qualify as Indians under the Saginaw Chippewa Tribe's definition, which required that an individual be at least one quarter blood.
3. That the Bureau of Indian Affairs failed to take into account the fact that distribution of the remaining assets of the Tribe would simply induce a greater reliance on Federal government programs, at a time when there was a continual decrease of such funding, which would eventually lead to reduction in services to Tribal members.

4. The Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan is the successor in interest to the Saginaw, Swan Creek and Black River Bands, and the Tribe is the designated beneficiary under the Indian Claims Commission and U.S. Court of Claims awards.
5. The Bureau of Indian Affairs recommendation failed to take into account the vital needs of the Tribe and per capita policies did not promote economic growth and development of the Tribe.
6. The recommendation was contrary to the President's American Indian Policy Statement of January 24, 1983 which provides that:

Tribal governments, like state and local governments, are more aware of the needs and desires of their citizens than is the federal government and should, therefore, have the primary responsibility for meeting these needs.

By maintaining judgment funds as a capital pool for individual tribes to invest enhanced this stated Administration objective of tribal self-determination and, moreover, would reflect the basic intent of Congress as found in 25 U.S.C. 1401 et seq.

Therefore in 1984, the tribe opted to pursue special legislation to protect the remaining undistributed Dockets 59, 13E and 13F and the 20% portion of Docket 57. This special legislation restricts participation to Tribal members and provides that 100% of Dockets 59, 13E and 13F be preserved in a perpetual investment fund.

On February 28, 1986 in a letter to Congressman Morris K. Udall, Chairman of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs; Assistant Secretary of Interior for Indian Affairs, Ross O. Swimmer reversed the Bureau of Indian Affairs previous opposition to Tribal legislation. Mr. Swimmer's support centered around two key issues, which were:

1. That general policy favored encouraging tribes to retain as much of the funds from the judgments as possible for "Tribal purposes".
2. That the tribe had developed comprehensive plans to program the judgment funds for the ongoing membership of members.

The "Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan
Distribution of Judgment Funds Act"

The three remaining Dockets 59, 13E and 13F and the 20% Tribal portion of Docket 57 were the subject of Senate Bill 1106, sponsored by Senators Don Reigle and Carl Levin. On the House of Representatives side the Tribal legislation was set out in H.R. 2983. The House of Representatives Bill was sponsored by Congressman William Schuette, with a number of Co-sponsors, including:

1. Congressman John Conyers, Jr.;
2. Congressman Carl O. Pursell;
3. Congressman Howard Wolpe;
4. Congressman Mark O. Siljander;
5. Congressman Guy Vander Jagt;
6. Congressman Robert W. Davis;
7. Congressman David E. Bonior;
8. Congressman George W. Crockett;
9. Congressman Sander Levin;
10. Congressman William S. Broomfield; and
11. With confirmation of support from the remaining members of the Michigan delegation with the exception of Congressman Traxler.

On Tuesday, June 10, 1986, the Senate version of the bill, with a number of House Amendments, passed the House of Representatives, and on Monday June 16, 1986 the Senate passed the bill without further Amendments. Thereafter, on June 30, 1986 President Reagan signed the bill into Law.

OPTIONAL USE OF DOCKET 57 FUNDS

SECTION 8. (a) The Secretary shall transfer to the Tribal Council all or any portion of the undistributed funds appropriated in satisfaction of the judgment awarded the tribe in docket 57 of the Indian Claims Commission (including all interest and investment income accrued on such funds) which the tribe requests the Secretary to transfer under this subsection. (b) any-

(1) expenditure for any improvement on the reservation of the tribe that can be enjoyed by all members of the tribe, or

(2) program or activity conducted only on the reservation of the tribe in which any member of the tribe can participate, shall not be construed to be discriminatory for purposes of subsection (a) merely because the benefits of such improvement, program, or activity are more readily available to members of the tribe who reside on the reservation of the tribe. Signed into law June 30, 1986.

Conclusion

On June 16, 1986 Senator Donald Riegle rose to voice his support for our legislation in the United States Senate and in his closing he quoted my good friend the late Ben Quigno. I cannot think of a more fitting closing in our long struggle, because Ben was always such an integral part of the production of this legislation, than to say what he once said; that is:

In remembrance of our ancestors, who guided their lives by the finest of all principles, the cultural values of caring, sharing, and always the concern for their children.

Their counsel would be...do your best for your children, and your children's children for that is the way we lived, and it was a good way.

I am truly convinced that this legislation is in keeping with the past tribal values and is a foundation for our children and our children's children.
